The Hancock Promise is transforming lives by placing higher education within everyone's reach. Help give the gift of education by sponsoring ONE student for ONE year!

PEOPLE, THEN FEED JUST ONE”

Thanks to the introduction of The Hancock Promise, more than 1,000 local students are on target to begin an incredible journey.

The Hancock Promise offers free tuition and fees to any student within the college's district who enrolls at Hancock immediately following high school graduation or who completes a GED or a HiSET credential through a local adult education program. This "first year free at AHC" opportunity is part of the college's four-phased Hancock Promise commitment to create a college-going culture within our community.

The Hancock Promise will save students approximately $1,200 per year in tuition and fees. Each student also receives priority registration, personalized counseling, and access to academic success programs.

The Allan Hancock College Foundation, along with the tremendous support of community leaders, businesses, and donors within Northern Santa Barbara County, has launched a five-year, $10 million endowment campaign to ensure The Hancock Promise will always be available to future generations. It's a fitting nod to our namesake, Captain G. Allan Hancock, a life-long learner. He believed that all students, regardless of their ability to pay, should have access to the benefit of education.

The college is committed to keeping this belief of Captain Hancock and ensure AHC has "the highest possible standards at the lowest possible cost." With our One Student. One Year. campaign, you can help us realize this vision for just $100 a month or $1,200.

Help us launch the dreams of our local students.
